Problem

Why do I see Usage: python someFile.py ... on the command-line and get booted out of the Python interpreter after importing a module or package?

Solution

Quite simply put, there's a very good chance the module you're importing has Windows carriage returns instead of UNIX '\n's. To fix this, try using the do s2unix command on any applicable Python files.

Related articles

- How can more people do development with ACS on the same machine without disturbing each other?
- Which ports are used by ACS?
- Problems connecting to ACS servers on a remote machine: bad /etc/hosts
- Why does the getComponent method of ZLegacy/ACS.ContainerServices return an object of type None?
- Why are some of my print statements not showing up in the container output section of acscommandcenter?